The Crutch in the Corner.

[Written just after the war by John McIntosh —"Old Vermont."]

"Why, Billy, your room is as cold as the hut
We had by the swamp and river,
Where we lost our major, and Tim, you know,
And sixty more with the fever."
"Well, Tom, old fellow, it's hard enough,
But the best at times knock under;
There's ne'er a stick of wood in the house
But that crutch in the corner yonder!

"Sorry I 'listed? Don't ask me that, Tom;
If the flag was again in danger,
I'd aim a gun with an aching stump
At the foe, were he a brother or stranger.
But, I say, ought a wound from shot or shell,
Or a pistol bullet, by thunder!
Forever to doom a poor fellow to wait,
With that crutch in the corner yonder?

"That crutch, old comrade, ought ever to be
A draft at sight on the Nation
For honor, respect, and a friendly hand:
For clothing, and quarters, and ration!
My wife—she begs at the Nugget House,
Where the bigburs live in splendor,
And brag, o'er their wine, oi the fights that brought
Such as that in the corner yonder!

"And Charlie—he goes to some place up town,
Some ticket-for-soup arrangement;
All well enough for a hungry boy,
But, Tom, its effect is estrangement!
I'd sooner have kicked the bucket twice o'er
By a shell or a round ten-pounder,
Than live such a life as I'm doing now,
With that crutch in the corner yonder.

"There's ne'er a thing left to pawn or to sell,
And the winter has closed on labor;
This medal is all that is left me now,
With my pistols and trusty saber;
And those, by the sunlight above us, Tom,
No power from my trust shall sunder,
Save the One that releases me at last
From that crutch in the corner yonder.

"I can raise this arm that is left to me
To the blessed heaven above us,
And swear by the throne of the Father there,
And the angels all, who love us,
That the hand I lost and the hand I have
Were never yet stained by plunder,
And for love of the dear old flag, I now
Use that crutch in the corner yonder.

"Do I ask too much when I say we boys,
Who fought for the Nation's glory,
Now that the danger is past and gone,
In comfort should tell our story?
How should we have fought when the mad shells screamed
And shivered our ranks, I wonder,
Had we known our lot would have been to beg,
With that crutch in the corner yonder?

There's little we hear of now-a-days
But pardon and reconstruction,
While the soldier who fought and bled for both
Is left to his own destruction.
'Twould be well, I think, in these nipping times,
For those Congress fellows to ponder,
And think of us boys who use such things
As that crutch in the corner yonder."

AN INCIDENT FROM LIFE.

How damp and cold and foggy it was in Lambeth Palace Road one December evening. It was terrible noisy too, for huge carts, laden with heavy goods from the Southwestern Railway treminus hard by, rattled incessantly over the stones, and everybody hurried along to be out of the thoroughfare as soon as possible.

Three little urchins formed an exception to the bustling crowd, for they lingered for more than an hour round the big iron gates of St. Thomas's Hospital in spite of the constant knocks and pushes they received, custom having made them almost unconscious of such treatment. Besides, the attraction which kept them there was a powerful one. They had actually witnessed, while they awaited, the arrival of no less than three Christmas trees. Two of them, it is true, were only young fir trees dug up from a plantation somewhere in the country and sent straight to the hospital there to be dressed up in all their attractive finery but the third tree was a present from the wife of one of the consulting physicians and was already trimmed and decorated and covered with toys.

There was some delay in moving it from the light cart and carrying it into the building, and so the three small boys outside had time for a long look at it in all its beauty. One must be a child to understand what that beauty is; colored flags, gold and silver balls, dolls, trumpets, candles, crackers, sweeties—they need a child's imagination to be appreciated, but we may perhaps, happily have enough of it left in us to know how much they convey to him.

The boys on the sticky pavement outside gave a long-drawn sigh as the beautiful tree went out of sight, and they turned away to their own usual surroundings—mud, fog, cold, discomfort, such as they had been accustomed to all through their short lives.

"My!" said one of them, Jimmy by name; "wouldn't I just like to be sick in there and 'ave that there tree to play with!"

It was a sentiment echoed by the other two, as they edged themselves along the railing of the hospital, making their way back toward the room they usually slept in in Lambeth.

"Well, we ain't sick," said another of them, called Peter, although the harsh, dry voice he spoke in his white, wan face might have told another tale.

"And so we ain't got no tree!" said the third boy, Bill. They had almost reached the corner of Westminster Bridge, in depressed silence, when Pet—as he was commonly called—suddenly stopped, and, with a smile that was pleasing enough to see, although his companions did not notice it, exclaimed:

"Ain't I got a hidea!"

After which statement he propounded to his attentive audience, ideas being, if not rare, always interesting to boys. And certainly Pet's was original and worthy of consideration.

He suggested that one of them should feign to be ill; should get taken into the hospital, and when once there should see the tree in all its glory.

The plan sounded delightful, the only objection to it being that they could not all play the principal part in it. They decided who should be the lucky one by the all-popular method of tossing, and Pet won the toss. This was fortunate, for besides having distinctly the first right to his own idea, which the lad did not think of, he was the only one of the three who would have been capable of acting his part; but Pet did not know this either.

He only gave Jimmy and Bill a few hints as to what they were to do, how they were to look as scared as possible when Bill's father came home at night, and how they were to say they knew nothing of Pet, except that he was suddenly "took bad."

Whereupon the "taking" promptly occurred, and with a thud that was unexpected even to Jimmy and Bill, Pet threw himself down at full length on the pavement. A small crowd instantly collected round them. Most of the people only stared a moment and then passed on; one or two expressed pity; and after a few moments the inevitable policeman arrived and pushed his way up to Pet's side, roughly questioning Jimmy and Bill. They whimpered a bit and looked frightened—to order, and the policeman, after rolling Pet over with his foot and finding him apparently altogether unconscious, said he must go to the hospital, and, with the help of a good-natured bystander, himself carried him there, Jimmy and Bill and several others following.

It was something to be inside those great walls, as Jimmy and Bill and Pet, too, thought, while the latter was being carried by the porter on a stretcher into the casualty ward and a big bell was rung for Number One—that is, a young dresser always handy, who sees a case first, and, if it be trifling, attends to it without sending for the house surgeon. But of Pet the dresser could make nothing at all, and he soon called the house surgeon, who came running down from the top of the high building and applied himself with the rapidity of a hard worked man to the consideration of the case before him. He did not look over thirty, but there was an amount of decision, a firmness and a gentleness in his touch of Pet, which spoke well for the use he had make of his head and of his heart. The policeman stated what he knew and was dismissed, while the surgeon looked for all the most likely symptoms in Pet, and was able to find none of them. The patient was simply unconscious. The boys were asked whether Pet had been ill before he fell suddenly, and they said: "No, only the cough!"

And as they both cried, or howled steadily, all the time, the dresser sent them away, telling them they might come the next morning to hear what was the matter with their friend. They, not sorry to get their dismissal after the surgeon had arrived on the scene, scampered off.

Then the surgeon, systematically and very patiently indeed, began at Pet's head and examined him down to his feet to find some cause for this extraordinary unconsciousness, and could find none. Disease he found indeed, for the poor little fellow's lungs were half gone, but as he said to the dresser: "Boys don't drop down unconscious from that!" Being strangely baffled, the surgeon ordered Pet to be taken to the children's ward, undressed and put to bed.

"We'll see what we can make of him then," he said.

It was not by any means easy for Pet to keep up his acting, especially when strong ammonia was put under his nose and almost boiling water to his feet, but he managed it, more now from pride than from longing after the Christmas tree, even. Only when he was lifted by the nurse into a soft, clean, warm bed, such as he had never dreamt of before, that small closed mouth of his involuntarily parted, and something very like a smile, like the ghost of a smile, stole over his face.

The surgeon, noticing it, was struck with the idea that the boy might be shamming.

"Fetch the battery here," he said.

Pet did not know what a battery meant, or his smile would certainly have disappeared as involuntatily as it had come.

The surgeon waited by his side, holding his small hand and thinking to himself that, shamming or not shamming, Pet had the most pathetic face he had met with in all his experience of sadness and suffering.

Then the battery was brought and a slight shock was administered from it down Pet's back.

"Oh! that was horrible!" thought the lad. "What was it? Would it come again?"

He managed not to wince under it the first time. A second and a harder shock was given. Pet did not quite scream, but he pressed his fingers so hard into the house surgeon's hand that the latter knew he was right in his conjecture. Then a third shock was given—a stronger one, and this time Pet sprang out of bed with tears starting to his eyes and exclaimed:

"Oh! don't do it again; don't do it again!"

One or two students round were laughing, but the surgeon did not see anything but pathos in the scene, as he said, gravely:

"Then you are not ill, and have been giving us all this trouble for nothing. Why did you do it?"

He wanted the lad to tell the truth, and of course to him Pet did.

"Please, sir," he said, not crying now, but looking straight with his great gray eyes into the doctor's face, "'twas the tree, the Christmas tree, as I wanted to see so awful bad! Me and Jimmy and Bill, we seed it a-carried into here, all beautiful, and—and—I did want to see it again!"

"And so you pretended to be ill, that you might come in here, and——"

"Yes, sir."

"And what am I to do with you now do you think?"

"Turn me out again," said Pet promptly.

There was something very like a quiver in the surgeon's voice as he said with infinite tenderness:

"No, my lad, I shan't do that to you; you shall see the Christmas tree in here. You are not what you pretend to be, but you are quite ill enough to stay in the ward until after Chirstmas time, and then we will see!"

And so Pet had his Christmas tree, and Jimmy and Bill came in at the surgeon's invitation to see it, too, but Pet did not go back with them after it to Lambeth. He never left the hospital again, for consumption ran a rapid course with him, and before three months were over he died in the ward.

Florida Oranges.

In Florida, good land for orange groves can be bought for one dollar an acre. If the land is covered with wild orange trees, they only need grafting to become productive of good oranges. The land must be cleared, for in that climate all land that is not in use soon becomes covered with rank, luxurious vegetation. Then some buildings have to be put up, and there also is the trouble and expense of evicting squatters, who are generally to be found in abundance on desirable land in Florida. The expense for land is really a small part of the cost of starting an orange grove, and the reason that so many people fail in the business of orange raising is that they start with too little capital. A young man with a few hundred dollars will go down there and think that, because he can get his land cheap, he has money enough to start a grove on, but he generally finds out his mistake. Besides the expenses of which I have spoken there is the expense of labor, which, although labor is cheap there, amounts to considerable, and the cost of subsistance for the orange grower and his family—if he has one—all of which count up. It will be two years before the orange trees—provided he is fortunate enough to get land that has wild orange trees on it, and grafts them—will yeald marketable fruit, and all this time he has to incur the expenses I have mentioned. When his trees get to bearing he must find a market for the oranges, and, unless he can be fortunate enough to sell them on the tress, he is at an expense for transportation. Having once got fairly started in the business, however, the expense is exceedingly small as compared with the returns, and a fortune can be made unless the orange grower is unfortunate with his trees. A young man must make up his mind to endure some deprivations. If he goes into the unsettled part of Florida, as if he would have to do if he got his land cheap, he must confine himself to the society of the negro squatters and possibly one or two other orange growers two or a dozen miles distant. He must school himself to view without emotion a snake dropping from the roof on his dinner-table, or some wild animal sitting on his front door-step. If he is fond of beef and milk he will find that he might as well sigh for ortolans and truffles. However, if a young man has grit and energy, and combines with those requisites sufficient capital, he can make a fortune as easily and surely by starting an orange grove in Florida as in any other way the world affords.

An Illinois man had accumulated a few thousands, and his health was such as to convince him that he had not much left of life. He picked out the scriptural clause, "Lay up treasure in heaven," and believed that he could obey. The process that he invented was to convert his wealth into paper money and burn it prayerfully on an alter. He went so far as to build the altar and kindle a sacrificial fire, but he had burned only $10 when his relatives forcibly deprived him of his religious liberty.

A Sloshing Sloshvillite.

Like the rest of mankind and some portions of monkeydom, I have long had an inflated idea that I could run a newspaper a few points nearer the wind than any editor yet born, and especially the editor of the Sloshville Cutter, published in a town in the West, where I had been hanging out for the summer, and I so informed the editor a few weeks since.

"Tangled snarles!" yelled he, "how easy to unravel! I have been poking the cobwebs out of my brain trying to think of some one fitted to fill my chair, while I enjoy a trip to Philadelphia, to attend the funeral of my lamented mother-in-law, and here comes Nimble Yankee Acker, Esq., (my full handle) just the man for the place. By the flop of a fly's wing, I am in luck."

The die was cast, I was to run the Sloshville Cutter for one week, and at it I went.

"You want to be careful of your insinuations and bits of sarcasm," said the editor, as a parting caution, "for the people of Sloshville are a little nervous and a little excitable under the ticklings of the editorial pen; in fact, if I had my choice, I would rather tickle the hind leg of an army mule with a two-inch straw, than a nervous Slosshvillite with a forty-mile quill."

The next day the editor left for Philadelphia to enjoy the rarity of a funeral of a mother-in-law—it is usually the son-in-law's funeral—and I took up my task of grinding out items relating to Sloshville and vicinity.

I had not labored long, when in rumbled a huge specimen of a Slosher, who looked as though he had just crawled from under a land side. He wore a hat which had been viciously slashed by the scythe of time, the left side of the brim having been lopped off, as if to give freedom to the ear which meekly hugged the place which had in past ages given it shelter from the cold glances of a frowning world. The other portions of his attire also attested to the changes which time may bring about during the flight of centuries—excuse the plural; the sun may never have shone in all its splendid refulgence at the dawn of the day; nor the benevolent moon cast its dim radiance in the quiet night, upon those garments for more than one century, but be that as it may, they were frilled and shaggy, like unto the eyebrow of Barnum's best monkey, and were in danger of being torn asunder when he sat down and began:

"Howdy, mister; so ye the fel'r as is goin' ter run this here shebang while the ed'ter is off ter Philadelfy, eh? I jest thought I'd scoot in and give yer a pint or two about town doin's. My name's Hank Hankerson."

"Ah, Mr. Hankerson, glad to see you. Anything stirring about town?"

"Wall, now; I should say there was. Do you think I'd come prowlin' round here if I had nothin' ter shoot off ter yer? Wall, I rather guess not! I cacklate I am the man who can whoop up more Sloshville news for yer in an hour, than any other galoot could in a week."

I may have looked a little doubtful of his ability to fill the bill, for he said:

"Don't catch on, eh? Wall, get yer quill and I'll sling more gollslamed news at yer in fifteen minutes, than yer ever herd whoaped from one man's tongue in a lifetime, or I hope a cyclone will scoop me up and drop me from the highest peak of the Rockeys. Here she goes; now slop around the ink."

"Last fall, me and Bill Broadbut went over to——"

"But hold on," said I, "people don't want to read about what you did a year ago. Give us something fresh."

"Oh, it'll be fresh 'nough before I get through. Just you never mind, but scatter that ink. As I was sayin,' last fall, me and Bill went over to Bangtown, and there was a shindig going on at——"

"Confound it; man; I tell you that is not news. It's stale. What the people want is something new and——"

"Something new eh; I ruther cacklate I know whatt he people want. Wall, gosh darn my looks, I should say I did! You just spill that ink and I'll give you news—yes, siree—news. There was a shindig goin' on at Jack Slopper's ranch, and me and Bill——"

"Scissors and shears!" yelled I, "I tell you I don't want to hear anything more about that blasted shindig, or me and Bill,' or Jack Slopper's ranch or anything else that rioted around these diggings before the landing of Columbus. If you have any news—news that is news—just spit it out.'

"Now, look a here, mister; never you mind about the landin' of Kerlumbus or any of the rest of them air forin' chaps; but listen to me and squirt that ink."

As my friends and the rest of the world well know, I seldom loose my temper, and perhaps I didn't then; but as Mr. Hankerson had asked me several times to spill that ink, I thought I'd do it, and I did—I spilled it over his beautiful features, I slopped it over his nobby hat, I scattered it on his confiding ear, and squirted it into his intelligent eyes, until it trickled from the ends of his fingers.

Probably this was not according to his notions or how ink should be spilled; for he was mad—madder than any Western cyclone ever dreamed of being.

In some manner, yet unknown to me, I stretched myself gracefully upon the sanctum floor and rolled around like a ball with which a kitten is playing, and Mr. Hankerson acted the part of the kitten.

At length the "devil" and the "jours" came out and gently persuaded Hankerson, by club argument, that he had better skip.

When I went to the hotel, Mrs. Acker wanted to know if I had been interviewing a mule.

A Washington Bonaparte.

Col. Jerome Bonaparte, the rightful heir to the throne of France, or whatever else the Corsican family are entitled to, was one of the striking figures there, as he is in every assembly. He is above the average height, of broad shoulders and fine built, and carries himself with a dignity and air that marks him at once. Eccentric old Betsy Patterson might well be proud of her grandson "Bo," and Frenchmen look upon him admiringly as one who unites in himself the noblest of the Bonaparte traits. Col. Bonaparte fought in our war and served his great-uncle's country throughout the Franco-Prussian struggle. He has steadily refused to entertain any aspirations towards the throne, and in his life presents as noble an example as the late Counte de Chambord. Revolutionists and political schemers have received courtesies, but no encouragement at his hands, and since his majority Col. Bonaparte has led the straightforward, self-respecting life of an American professional man. His large inheritance from his mother assured him a fortune without depending upon his profession, but until his removal here his name was with his brother's on the sign of their law firm in Baltimore. Col. Bonaparte resembles the late Emperor Napoleon in his features, wearing the same mustache and imperial, but his figure and bearing render him a much finer looking man than that gray-eyed Man of Destiny. There was a sharp contrast when he stood beside Gen. Sheridan, who with his dumpy little figure, queer wrinkled face and bald crown hardly reached to the shoulder of the imperial-looking man beside him.

He'd Wait and See.

During the war a couple of New Yorkers went down into Pennsylvania to prospect for oil, and, having discovered a "stratum," they undertook to purchase five acres of land of an old German. He was up to snuff, if not to oil, and refused to sell at any reasonable figure. One of the would-be purchasers finally said to him:

'See here, Mr. Klopp, we propose to buy this land and turn it over to the government."

"Vhas for?"

"To help put down the rebellion. The time has come when every man must show his colors. Are you for the Union?"

"Vhell—vhell——"

"Are you a patriot, or not?"

"Vhell, I tell you how it vas. If dere vhas oil in my land, I hold it for one tousand dollars an acre und vhas a rebel. If dere vhas no oil, I sell it to you for two hundered dollars an acre und vhas a good patriot."

Jeems' oldest son desired to attend the policemen's ball. The mother of the young man insisted he should not go. 'Have nothing to do with balls, my son, they are dangerous,' said the careful parent. The next morning Jeems, jr., refused fish-balls at breakfast, repeating the words of his mother the night previous. The old lady looked over her glasses at her hopeful and remarked: 'Are you afraid of bones?'

A YOUNG man out in Waupun, Wis.' organized an accordion corps. At last accounts he was still half a mile ahead of the inhabitants, but things looked quite enccuraging, as he was very much out of breath.

Items of Interest.

The charge against a California Judge is of frivolity, and the specification is that he puts his hair in papers every night, woman fashion, to make it curl when he is on the bench next day.

In Germany, hereafter, each town must keep a record of all the hard drinkers, and the city medical men are bound to report those who habitually imbibe to excess, so that the authorities may subject them to a strict course of treatment.

No bureau of the Government exceeds in importance the United States Patent Office. From the start it has been selfsustaining, and now has an unexpended balance to its credit of $2,500 000. This money is the result of fees paid by inventors to secure the patents which protect their inventions. The business of the Patent Office has increased with each year of its existence.

A farmer from Pocahontas county, West Virginia, appeared in Staunton the other day searching for an auction block and an auctioneer. He was umb-founded when told that there were no slave auctions in Virginia. He returned to his mountain home unable to sell the two slaves he had desired to sell. He had cultivated his farm all these years in ignorance of the emancibation proclamation.

MICROSCOPIC ANIMALS IN BRICKS.—The weathering of brick walls into a friable state is usually attributed to the action of the heat, wet, and frost; but from recent observations of M. Parize, the real destroyer is a microscopic creature, and the action played by the weather is only secondary. He has examined the red dust of crumbling bricks under the microscope, and found it to consist largely of minute living organisms. A sample of brick dust taken from the heart of a solid brick also showing the same animalculae, but in smaller numbers.

THE NOISE OF THE FINGERS.—When you poke the end of your finger in your ear, the roaring noise you hear is the sound of the circulation in your finger, which is the fact, as any one can demonstrate for himself by first putting his fingers in his ears, and then stopping them up with other substance. Try it, and think what a wonder of a machine your body is, that even the points of your fingers are such busy workshops that they roar like a small Niagara. The roaring is probably more than the noise of the circulation of the blood. It is the voice of all the vital processes together—the tearing down and building up processes that are always going forward in the living body from conception down to death.

Married for Keeps.

The skipper of a coal boat on the Baltimore and Ohio canal recently decided, after mature deliberation and careful consideration, to marry his cook, who had been a tried and faithful servant to him for quite a number of his perilous trips on the storm-lashed canal. So he spoke to her about the matter one day, and after securing her coy consent, he ordered the boat tied up at a small town, and, being a practical skipper, skipped up street after a parson. The nuptial knot was soon tied, the parson beaten down to a dollar and a half for his fee, and then the canal boatman said:

"Well, Melindy, we are married for keeps now. We are hitched for life, and must pull together. I'm a little short-handed to-day, and as that lead mule has got saddle galls on his back, you jist take the tow path, and lead him down to Harper's Ferry, an' I'll steer, an' kinder ruminate on some plan to give you work on the boat without going ashore in the mud. I've got a powerful sight more respect for you now, that you're my wife."

A Fine View.

Two Boston gentlemen, while tramping through the white mountains the past summer, came across a lonely hut among the hills from which the prospect was particularly fine and extended. The proprietor of the establishment was hoeing in a small garden, and the travelers began to quiz him. Said one:

"You have an excellent view from your house?"

"Purty fair," replied the farmer.

"I suppose," continued the first speaker, winking at his companion, "on a fair day you can see almost to Europe.

"Kin see further than that," returned the man.

"How so?" was asked in surprise.

"We dont' think nothin' of seein'as far as the mine!"

The Bostonians had found their match.

'Only think of it!' exclaimed a Chicago girl, 'I weigh one hundred and twenty pounds in my stockings.' 'Do you?' replied her cousin from St. Louis, glancing at the feet of the first speaker, 'I wouldn't have believed it. How much do you weigh altogether?'

HUMOROUS.

Has it ever occurred to bass ball men that a milk pitcher is a good fly catcher?

The longest word in the dictionary is 'disproportionableness.' By punching out every other letter it ought to make an excelent comb.

Mrs. Murphy—'Och, it's awful, ther paypul what's buried aloive! If I be living whin I'm dead, Pat, don't be afther burying me aloive!"

Teacher—'Now, children, which one of you can tell me what a consonant is? Bright boy—'I can. It's a portion of land surrounded by water.'

A sensiole farmer says he'd rather sell milk than eggs, because he has never yet been able to find a pump that could help the hens in the slightest.

What's the difference between the man who tears down a picket fence and one who dresses a spring chicken? One pulls the picket and the other picks the puller.

'In this issue,' said an exchange, 'is an article headed 'What will the coming girl wear?' We rather think, however, she won't wear anything—when she comes.'

"Yes' said Mrs. Upperten, 'I know the telephone is a great convenience, but I shall have it taken out of the house. The things are so dreadfully common, you know.'

A river called Kissmelonga has been discovered by Stanley in Central Africa, and the Boston Transcript knows it has heard the name before, but not in this connection.

A man's brain weighs three and a half pounds. A woman's brain is somewhat lighter, but of finer quality. That is what enables her to taste lard in her neighbor's pastry.

HOW RAPIDLY a man looses all interest in Thanksgiving and Christmas observations and the glorious results of a Massachusetis election when he shuts a door on his thumb!

An Indian named 'Man-Afraid-of-Nothing,' married a white woman in Montana recently, and in and week after the wedding applied to his tribe to have his name changed.

'I always sing to please myself,' said a gentleman who was humming a tune in company. How nice it is to be so easily pleased!' responded a lady who sat next to him.

'Your father is worth at least half a million,, said he to his jealous sweetheart. That is true,' she murmured. 'And yet you doubt my love,' he replied, in an injured tone.

The Chief of Police of Buffalo defines a suspicious person as 'a man standing on the street corner with his hands in his pockets.' Fold your arms and lean against a wall if you want to pass for an honest man.

A man very much intoxicated was taken to the station. "Why did you not bail him out?" inquired a bystander of a friend. "Bale him out?" exclaimed the other, "Why, you couldn't pump him out!"

'NO,' SAID a fond mother, speaking proudly of her twenty-five-year-old daughter; 'no, Mary isn't old enough to marry yet. She cries whenever any one scolds her, and until she becomes hardened enough to talk back vigorously she isn't fit for a wife.'

A man in a sleeping car went through a terrible accident, in which the car rolled down an embankment, without waking. It was noted, however, that as the car struck the bottom he murmered: 'Don't, Jane, don't; I'll get up and start the fire directly.'

'Grandpa, does hens make their own eggs?' 'Yes, indeed, they do, Johnny.' 'An' do they always put the yolk in the middle?' 'Guess they do, Johnny.' 'An' do they put the starch around it to keep the yaller from rubbing off?' Quite likely, my boy.' 'An' who sews the cover on?' This stumped the old gentleman.

P. GRAY MEEK, Chairman.

Appeals for additional relief for the Ohio valley flood sufferers were read in both houses of Congress on last Friday. A bill appropriating $200,000 for that purpose passed the House early in the day and subsquently passed the Senate and was sent to the President.

As being of interest to the numerous ex-soldiers among our readers, it may be stated almost with certainty that the bill now before the Senate and House, which provides that no proof shall be neccessary to establish the fact of sound physical condition at the time of his muster into the service in the army or navy, of any applicant for an invalid pension, for any wound or disability contracted in the army or navy in the late war, will pass and become a law.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb, 18 1884.

Most of the opposition to Mr. Morrison's tariff bill thus far is evidently of the kind that would find any possible bill for the reduction of the tariff "grotesque," "chaptrap," "inharmonious,,' "a bungle," "foolometeo,"etc., as the divorced Mr. Porter calls it in an intemperate letter to the Philadelphia Press. But it must not be forgotten that back of the few highly-protected manufacturers whom Mr. Porter represents is the great mass of the American people, demanding a reduction of taxation, and that in the Treasury a great surplus is banking itself up at the rate of almost a hundred millions a year. Congress should calmly proceed with the reduction of taxes according to its best wisdom, without much regard to the violent outcry of a small class of interested rich men, which is like that of a few crickets in a field.

Somebody who signs himself "T. F," is sending bundles of printed circulars to Senators,in which objections are made to the forfeiture of the Texas Pacific land grant. It gives the usual arguments which were made by the attorneys of the Texas Pacific before the House Committee on Public Lands, and adds the new and astonishing argument that the land is worthless. The circular recites that "if the United States were given all these lands for nothing to actual settlers, it is doubtful whether anybody could be found with temerity enough to accept them." Notwithstanding the worthlessness of these lahds,this advocate of the railroad insists that the road must have them, and reiterates C. P. Huntington's threat that if Congress declares the grant forfeited the constitutionality of the act must be decided by the Supreme Court. The gentlemen who are supposed to be prominent in the movement to take these "worthless" lands from the Texas Pacific are accused in this circular of simply seeking political capital. The writer says: "These men see in the noisy discussion of such bills, and the apparent warfare which they wage with the railroads, something to catch the ears of the groundlings—of those who are opposed to anything and everything which tends to develop anh build up the great West." Too bad, isn't it? PHONO.

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY.—The following are the recommendations made by the Grand Jury at the late court :

We, the grand jurors of January term, 1884,of the Court of Quarter sessions of Centre county, Pa., on examination of the public buildings, do offer the following recommendations to the commissioners of Centre county, to wit : That the prisoner's cells be lined with boiler iron on the back of the cells, whitewash the cells and corridor every three months. Also improve the ventilation ; kitchen range in poor condition : repair steps to boiler room. Found leakage over commissary rooms which needs improving. Cement coping of yard wall and plaster wall inside below coping. Also, on examination in Register's office, we reccommend that the following articles be supplied: One desk, set of window blinds, two chairs. All of which is respectfully submitted. A WALTER,

A Blizzard in the West.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb, 18.—A blizzard is raging in the vicinity of St. Vincent. The thermometer is falling rapidly and fears are entertained of a snow blockade.

The two-year old boy of a Johnstown brewer named Lawrence Kost, wandered into his father's brewery the other day while the family were at dinner and no one present, and fell into a tub containing about seven and a half barrels of boiling hot liquid. He was not discovered by his father for fully fifteen minutes after the occurrence and it was with the greatest defficulty that the body was removed without the flesh dropping from the bones so thoroughly cooked was it. Deputy Collector Campbell was notified of the occurrence and the contents of the tub were drained off by him.

The Ohio River Floods still Raging.

FEB 15th.—The towns and cities on the Ohio river have been visited by the greatest flood of the century. So great and appalling is the disaster that pen fails to adequately describe the misery and destitution prevailing. Over one hundred thousand people are homeless and destitute and must be provided with food and clothing for weeks to come.

A special from,Gallipolis, Ohio, says: The relief steamers Nora Belle and Jim Montgomery returned from a trip down the river last night. They report that the village of Athalia, Ohio, is almost entirely swept away. At Millersport, Ohio, twenty or thirty houses are gone. At Proctorville, Ohio, the water is in the second stories. At Ceredo, W. Va. $3000,00 worth of lumber was lost. Supplies are greatly needed everywhere. The relief committee is using four small steamers to distribute supplies, which are coming in liberally.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 15th.—The town Maysville had not been heard from until to-day, when a committee composed of Captain Kirker, JudgeCollins and a Presbyterian minister, of that place, on their way to Cincinnati in a skiff, hailed the Kate Waters and were taken on board. They report the town is almost ruined. Brick buildings are crumbling to pieces and frame houses are washing away. The militia company as patrolling the streets in boats distributing food but the supply is about exhausted. All along the river the story comes of most generous aid rendered by farmers and others far into the interior who have sent food in wagons, without which much suffering would have resulted. Aberdeen, opposite Maysville, was badly wrecked by the late storm. The town is entirely destitute of coal oil and is practically in darkness. Some help has been sent there from Maysville. Ripley has fully fifteen thousand persons dependent and has been receiving help from the interior as far back as Hillsboro, thirty-five miles. The village of Rural with two huudred and fifty inhabitants, has one hundred destitute. Eight families are sheltered in a church and thirty-five persons are in a small school house.

A Railroad Track Ruined.

WHEELING, Feb. 15.—The greatest financial loss is that of the Ohio River railroad. For a hundred miles the track and road bed has almost entirely disappeared and the bridges haye all been swept away. At Moundsville about twenty families have been rendered homeless and entirely destitute, but the wealthy people of the town have refused to accept aid and are doing everything possible to alleviate the suffering. At Bernwood, 250 persons, three fourths of the entire population, are in absolute want.

DELUGE MOVING WEST.

SHAWNEETOWN, Ind., Feb. 17.—A heavy rain fell all night and during the early hours of the morning, and the indications are that there will be still more rain. The latest news from the Wabash is that the river is still rising and that the Tennessee is pouring a great flood into the Ohio, causing much suffering among the refugees on the hills. Their provisions are giving out, and food has been scarce from the start, and many additional cases are reported. But bad as the situation now is it will become worse.

The situation in Uniontown is growing more serious. The entire town is several feet under water and the river is still rising steadily. There was a rise during the night of five inches. Between Shawneetown and Uniontown the country on both sides of the river as far as the eye can reach is one vast sheet of water, trees alone making the dividing line between the river and the shores. Several houses have been washed away.

The situation at Paducah is worse than has been generally supposed. Last night one-third of the place was under water, and a rise of two feet more would cover the entire town. The last train on the Ohio and Chesapeake road arrived last night. The water covered the track to the depth of two feet putting out the fires of the engine. At 8 o'clock this evening the gas works were flooded, and the people are now dependent on lamps.

New Liberty, twelve miles above here, is entirely abandoned and nothing but the roofs of the houses can be seen. Four-fifths of Smithland, at the mouth of the Cumberland river, is under water and several other towns are submerged. That portion of Caseyville fronting on the river is under water to a depth of ten or twelve feet.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Feb. 17.—The steamer R. L. Cobb reports that nearly all the plantations below are more or less submerged. Only four landings could be made from the mouth of the river. The situation of the planters is critical. At Fulton last night the Red river was still rising and the flood covered the banks on both sides for many miles. The homes of hundreds of persons are flooded. The occupants are helpless and cannot be rescued. Live stock are drowning in large numbers. Many houses are being washed into the river and unless relief is soon obtained the loss will be heavy. The Arkansas river at Fort Smith had fallen six feet at midnight last night and was receding slowly.

The River Receding at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 17.—The river .s rededing at the rate of about one and a-half inches an hour and 11 o'clock tonight stood at sixty feet. It rained hard this afternoon.

Miscellaneous.

A general reduction in fare has been made on the Reading Railroad.

There is a man in Shamokin who has lived for seven years on bread and water at an expense of 40 cents a week.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad company is building a locomotive which it is stated will be the heaviest ever built. It will have ten driving wheels with pony-trucks before and behind.

On Sunday Feb. 10 Mrs. Fenstermacher, liying on East Market street, Sunbury, discoyered a bunch of full blown blossoms on an apple tree in her lot. The tree is also full of buds nearly ready to burst. This is a remarkable circumstance considering the recent severe weather and the open, exposed position of the tree.

A Reading Lad's Singular Death.

READING, February 13.—A strange and fatal accident occured here on the streets to night. An alarm of fire was struck at 8. 30 and a large crowd ran in response. Harry Ganz, aged seventeen ran against a tree in the thick fog, slipped and was instantly killed. He struck the tree with his temple.

The State Agricultural Society, having bought ground for a permanent place of exhibition in Philadelphia, will erect capacious buildings during the coming summer and inaugurate its new departure next fall with a State fair at which $50,000 in premiums will be offered. It strikes one at first as odd to hold an agricultural fair in the largest city of the State and in the extreme southeastern corner; but, after all, by the increase of railroad facilities,Philadelphia is brought near to the great agricultural region s of the State. Lancaster, Chester, Delaware, Lebanon, Berks, Lehigh,Montgomery and Northampton counties make most of the agricultural display and the point that is most central for them will no doubt be found most advantageous for such an exhibition. Besides in great centers of population it is most practicable to secure a large patronage of exhibitors and spectators.

Dead in a Dentist's Chair.

SCRANTON, Feb. 7.—MIS. James Stevenson, of the Providence section of the city, died to-day in a dentist's chair at the office of W. H. Heist, after she had three doses of chloroform and ether administered during the pulling of fifteen teeth. The anaesthetic was given by her family physician, Dr. A. Strang. After the first dose Dentist Heist pulled two teeth; then another dose was given and nine teeth were extracted; then a third dose was given, after which five teeth were taken out. The startled dentist then realized that he was pulling the teeth of a dead woman. Mrs. Stevenson died shortly after receiving the third dose. She leaves seven children, the youngest of whom is only four months old. Coroner Dean is holding the inquest, which will continued to-morrow.

TWO BOLD SWINDLERS.—The other morning at 4 o'clock, as the Philadelphia and Erie passenger train was about starting west from Harrisburg, a bold and successful swindling dodge was played upon an old gentleman, a citizen of Erie, who was on his way home. Two men came bolting into the train and one of them called out, "Is there any one on this train going through to Erie?" The old gentleman referred to reply that he was bound for Erie,whereupon the first speaker stated that he had a car of horses on the train but that the freight agent would not allow them to go through until the remainder of the freight, which was short $40, was paid. He referred to the man who had come with him, as the freight agent, and the latter affirmed the statement of the alleged horsedealer. He represented that he was going through with the horses,and that he had a written security which he would give any one furnishing the money asked for,the man secured the amount named from the old gentleman of Erie, and placed in the hands of the latter the document which he had previously shown. After getting the money the horse dealer and the freight agent passed forward to the front part of the train to look after the horses. When it became light enough to examine it thoroughly the benevolent Erie man discovered that the paper given him was a sight draft on the First national bank of Texas for $20,000. Long before this time the swindlers had skipped off the train and disappeared. It need not be stated that there were no horses on the train and that both the men who worked the horse dodge were swindlers.

As being of interest to the numerous ex-soldiers among our readers, it may be stated almost with certainty that the bill now before the Senate and House, which provides that no proof shall be neccessary to establish the fact of sound physical condition at the time of his muster into the service in the army or navy, of any applicant for an invalid pension, for any wound or disability contracted in the army or navy in the late war, will pass and become a law.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb, 18 1884.

Most of the opposition to Mr. Morrison's tariff bill thus far is evidently of the kind that would find any possible bill for the reduction of the tariff "grotesque," "chaptrap," "inharmonious,' "a bungle," "foolometeo,"etc., as the divorced Mr. Porter calls it in an intemperate letter to the Philadelphia Press. But it must not be forgotten that back of the few highly-protected manufacturers whom Mr. Porter represents is the great mass of the American people, demanding a reduction of taxation, and that in the Treasury a great surplus is banking itself up at the rate of almost a hundred millions a year. Congress should calmly proceed with the reduction of taxes according to its best wisdom, without much regard to the violent outcry of a small class of interested rich men, which is like that of a few crickets in a field.

Somebody who signs himself "T. F," is sending bundles of printed circulars to Senators,in which objections are made to the forfeiture of the Texas Pacific land grant. It gives the usual arguments which were made by the attorneys of the Texas Pacific before the House Committee on Public Lands, and adds the new and astonishing argument that the land is worthless. The circular recites that "if the United States were given all these lands for nothing to actual settlers, it is doubtful whether anybody could be found with temerity enough to accept them." Notwithstanding the worthlessness of these lahds,this advocate of the railroad insists that the road must have them, and reiterates C. P. Huntington's threat that if Congress declares the grant forfeited the constitutionality of the act must be decided by the Supreme Court. The gentlemen who are supposed to be prominent in the movement to take these "worthless" lands from the Texas Pacific are accused in this circular of simply seeking political capital. The writer says: "These men see in the noisy discussion of such bills, and the apparent warfare which they wage with the railroads, something to catch the ears of the groundlings—of those who are opposed to anything and everything which tends to develop anh build up the great West." Too bad, isn't it? PHONO.

It becomes our sad duty to record the death of our aged friend and Father Mr. John Hains, who departed this life on Monday the 11th after a short illness. Mr. Hains attained a good old age. He was a kind father and well beloved citizen. Peace to his ashes. JACK PLANE.

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY.—The following are the recommendations made by the Grand Jury at the late court :

We, the grand jurors of January term, 1884, of the Court of Quarter sessions of Centre county, Pa., on examination of the public buildings, do offer the following recommendations to the commissioners of Centre county, to wit : That the prisoner's cells be lined with boiler iron on the back of the cells, whitewash the cells and corridor every three months. Also improve the ventilation ; kitchen range in poor condition : repair steps to boiler room. Found leakage over commissary rooms which needs improving. Cement coping of yard wall and plaster wall inside below coping. Also, on examination in Register's office, we reccommend that the following articles be supplied: One desk, set of window blinds, two chairs. All of which is respectfully submitted. A WALTER,
January 31, 1884. Foreman.

A Blizzard in the West.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb, 18.—A blizzard is raging in the vicinity of St. Vincent. The thermometer is falling rapidly and fears are entertained of a snow blockade.

The two-year old boy of a Johnstown brewer named Lawrence Kost, wandered into his father's brewery the other day while the family were at dinner and no one present, and fell into a tub containing about seven and a half barrels of boiling hot liquid. He was not discovered by his father for fully fifteen minutes after the occurrence and it was with the greatest defficulty that the body was removed without the flesh dropping from the bones so thoroughly cooked was it. Deputy Collector Campbell was notified of the occurrence and the contents of the tub were drained off by him.

The Ohio River Floods still Raging.

FEB 15th.—The towns and cities on the Ohio river have been visited by the greatest flood of the century. So great and appalling is the disaster that pen fails to adequately describe the misery and destitution prevailing. Over one hundred thousand people are homeless and destitute and must be provided with food and clothing for weeks to come.

A special from Gallipolis, Ohio, says: The relief steamers Nora Belle and Jim Montgomery returned from a trip down the river last night. They report that the village of Athalia, Ohio, is almost entirely swept away. At Millersport, Ohio, twenty or thirty houses are gone. At Proctorville, Ohio, the water is in the second stories. At Ceredo, W. Va. $3000,00 worth of lumber was lost. Supplies are greatly needed everywhere. The relief committee is using four small steamers to distribute supplies, which are coming in liberally.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 15th.—The town Maysville had not been heard from until to-day, when a committee composed of Captain Kirker, JudgeCollins and a Presbyterian minister, of that place, on their way to Cincinnati in a skiff, hailed the Kate Waters and were taken on board. They report the town is almost ruined. Brick buildings are crumbling to pieces and frame houses are washing away. The militia company as patrolling the streets in boats distributing food but the supply is about exhausted. All along the river the story comes of most generous aid rendered by farmers and others far into the interior who have sent food in wagons, without which much suffering would have resulted. Aberdeen, opposite Maysville, was badly wrecked by the late storm. The town is entirely destitute of coal oil and is practically in darkness. Some help has been sent there from Maysville. Ripley has fully fifteen thousand persons dependent and has been receiving help from the interior as far back as Hillsboro, thirty-five miles. The village of Rural with two huudred and fifty inhabitants, has one hundred destitute. Eight families are sheltered in a church and thirty-five persons are in a small school house.

A Railroad Track Ruined.

WHEELING, Feb. 15.—The greatest financial loss is that of the Ohio River railroad. For a hundred miles the track and road bed has almost entirely disappeared and the bridges have all been swept away. At Moundsville about twenty families have been rendered homeless and entirely destitute, but the wealthy people of the town have refused to accept aid and are doing everything possible to alleviate the suffering. At Bernwood, 250 persons, three fourths of the entire population, are in absolute want.

DELUGE MOVING WEST.

SHAWNEETOWN, Ind., Feb. 17.—A heavy rain fell all night and during the early hours of the morning, and the indications are that there will be still more rain. The latest news from the Wabash is that the river is still rising and that the Tennessee is pouring a great flood into the Ohio, causing much suffering among the refugees on the hills. Their provisions are giving out, and food has been scarce from the start, and many additional cases are reported. But bad as the situation now is it will become worse.

The situation in Uniontown is growing more serious. The entire town is several feet under water and the river is still rising steadily. There was a rise during the night of five inches. Between Shawneetown and Uniontown the country on both sides of the river as far as the eye can reach is one vast sheet of water, trees alone making the dividing line between the river and the shores. Several houses have been washed away.

The situation at Paducah is worse than has been generally supposed. Last night one-third of the place was under water, and a rise of two feet more would cover the entire town. The last train on the Ohio and Chesapeake road arrived last night. The water covered the track to the depth of two feet putting out the fires of the engine. At 8 o'clock this evening the gas works were flooded, and the people are now dependent on lamps.

New Liberty, twelve miles above here, is entirely abandoned and nothing but the roofs of the houses can be seen. Four-fifths of Smithland, at the mouth of the Cumberland river, is under water and several other towns are submerged. That portion of Caseyville fronting on the river is under water to a depth of ten or twelve feet.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Feb. 17.—The steamer R. L. Cobb reports that nearly all the plantations below are more or less submerged. Only four landings could be made from the mouth of the river. The situation of the planters is critical. At Fulton last night the Red river was still rising and the flood covered the banks on both sides for many miles. The homes of hundreds of persons are flooded. The occupants are helpless and cannot be rescued. Live stock are drowning in large numbers. Many houses are being washed into the river and unless relief is soon obtained the loss will be heavy. The Arkansas river at Fort Smith had fallen six feet at midnight last night and was receding slowly.

The River Receding at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 17.—The river is rededing at the rate of about one and a-half inches an hour and 11 o'clock tonight stood at sixty feet. It rained hard this afternoon.

Miscellaneous.

A general reduction in fare has been made on the Reading Railroad.

There is a man in Shamokin who has lived for seven years on bread and water at an expense of 40 cents a week.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad company is building a locomotive which it is stated will be the heaviest ever built. It will have ten driving wheels with pony-trucks before and behind.

On Sunday Feb. 10 Mrs. Fenstermacher, living on East Market street, Sunbury, discovered a bunch of full blown blossoms on an apple tree in her lot. The tree is also full of buds nearly ready to burst. This is a remarkable circumstance considering the recent severe weather and the open, exposed position of the tree.

A Reading Lad's Singular Death.

READING, February 13.—A strange and fatal accident occured here on the streets to night. An alarm of fire was struck at 8. 30 and a large crowd ran in response. Harry Ganz, aged seventeen ran against a tree in the thick fog, slipped and was instantly killed. He struck the tree with his temple.

The State Agricultural Society, having bought ground for a permanent place of exhibition in Philadelphia, will erect capacious buildings during the coming summer and inaugurate its new departure next fall with a State fair at which $50,000 in premiums will be offered. It strikes one at first as odd to hold an agricultural fair in the largest city of the State and in the extreme southeastern corner; but, after all, by the increase of railroad facilities, Philadelphia is brought near to the great agricultural regions of the State. Lancaster, Chester, Delaware, Lebanon, Berks, Lehigh, Montgomery and Northampton counties make most of the agricultural display and the point that is most central for them will no doubt be found most advantageous for such an exhibition. Besides in great centers of population it is most practicable to secure a large patronage of exhibitors and spectators.

Dead in a Dentist's Chair.

SCRANTON, Feb. 7.—Mrs. James Stevenson, of the Providence section of the city, died to-day in a dentist's chair at the office of W. H. Heist, after she had three doses of chloroform and ether administered during the pulling of fifteen teeth. The anaesthetic was given by her family physician, Dr. A. Strang. After the first dose Dentist Heist pulled two teeth; then another dose was given and nine teeth were extracted; then a third dose was given, after which five teeth were taken out. The startled dentist then realized that he was pulling the teath of a dead woman. Mrs. Stevenson died shortly after receiving the third dose. She leaves seven children, the youngest of whom is only four months old. Coroner Dean is holding the inquest, which will continued to-morrow.

TWO BOLD SWINDLERS.—The other morning at 4 o'clock, as the Philadelphia and Erie passenger train was about starting west from Harrisburg, a bold and successful swindling dodge was played upon an old gentleman, a citizen of Erie, who was on his way home. Two men came bolting into the train and one of them called out, "Is there any one on this train going through to Erie?" The old gentleman referred to reply that he was bound for Erie, whereupon the first speaker stated that he had a car of horses on the train but that the freight agent would not allow them to go through until the remainder of the freight, which was short $40, was paid. He referred to the man who had come with him, as the freight agent, and the latter affirmed the statement of the alleged horsedealer. He represented that he was going through with the horses, and that he had a written security which he would give any one furnishing the money asked for, the man secured the amount named from the old gentleman of Erie, and placed in the hands of the latter the document which he had previously shown. After getting the money the horse dealer and the freight agent passed forward to the front part of the train to look after the horses. When it became light enough to examine it thoroughly the benevolent Erie man discovered that the paper given him was a sight draft on the First national bank of Texas for $20,000. Long before this time the swindlers had skipped off the train and disappeared. It need not be stated that there were no horses on the train and that both the men who worked the horse dodge were swindlers.

—Very few cellars in town without water.

—Faith in the groundhog prophesies is gone.

—For great bargains go to Dinges, Vonada & Co's., at Coburn.

—A few organs left which will be sold for 65, and up.

C. F. GEPHART.

—We are glad to state that Mrs. G. W. Stover's health is somewhat improving.

—Easter cards will soon be in demand and the place to get them is the JOURNAL store.

—We notice Mr. C. A. Sturgis in town. Came up to see little Bessie and aunt June.

—Our town council did not hold its contemplated meeting last Monday evening. Try again.

—Col. Jos. Neff, an aged citizen of Centre Hill, this county, departed this life on Monday. The funeral will be today.

—Mr. Cyrus Stover, brother of our townsman J. W. Stover, is here from the West, visiting his relatives and friends.

—Now that the snow has melted from our streets the ash-piles are becoming prominent. They are not ornamental.

—Jacob Bower's sale of live stock and farm implements in Haines township will be on Tuesday, March 4th, 1884.

—Mr. J. D. Tomlinson, one of Rev. Tomlinson's oldest sons was home on a visit to his parents at Aaronsburg last week.

—The pedestrians in town are wishing for several more street crossings in this weather—too much mud and water to contend with.

—Another month and lots of folks will be getting ready to move quarters. The JOURNAL will publish its usual list of flittings in due time.

—Mr. Andrew Stover,of Penn township, will make sale of his live stock and farming implements on Thursday, the 9th of March next. See bills.

—Mrs. Catherine Orndorf of Woodward will sell at public sale on Thursday, March 20th, 1884 some fine live stock and farming implements. See bills.

—T. G. Erhard of Haines twp., gave us a farewell call on Saturday and left for Kansus on Tuesday. Hope he will find the western soil agreeable in every respect.

—Michael Frank's sale comes off March 18th. There will be some excellent horses, cows, shoats, wagons, agricultural implements and household goods sold.

—Emanuel Bower will make sale of valuable live stock and farm implements on the 12th of March, at his residence in Penn township,about 2½ miles west of Millheim.

—Mr. Jesse Kreamer, who expects to erect a dwelling house on the corner lot of South and Water streets is busy hauling the necessary building materials for his new home.

—Our thanks are due to ex-Gov. Curtin for a printed copy of his able address, delivered in the house of Representatives, on Feb. 1st inst., in the case of Fitz-John Porter.

—Splendid live stock and good farming implements will be sold at public sale by G. W. Harter on his premises near Millheim on Thursday,March 13th 1884. See Bills.

—Washington's Birthday to-morrow—next holiday will be Easter, and it ought to be a green one according to the old adage "White Christmas—Green Easter."

—Our friend, W. J. Springer,is busy as a beaver repairing and remodeling Tomlinson's former branch store into an oyster saloon and barber shop combined. Next ?

—Mr. Thom. Kister of Milton was in town a few days and gave the JOURNAL an inspecting call. Repeat your pleasant visits, brother "Typo."

—Mrs. A. J. Harter left on Monday for her home at Hartleton. She expects to attend the dedication services of Ray's church, at Buffalo X Roads, Union county, next Sunday.

—H. W. Kreamer's sale of personal property comes off, Tuesday March 11th. He has a splendid assortment of farming implements and most excellent live stock. Henry's sale should be a good one.

—Mr. David Ruhl, of Hartleton, Union county, was up last week visiting his sister Mrs. A. J. Harter and looking up local agents for a new washing machine, for which he has the sole agency in Centre and Union counties.

—If you need anything in the line of School or Blank Books, Bibles, Sunday School Cards, Paper and Envelopes, bear in mind that the Journal Store on Penn street is the place to buy those things. Give us a call.

—The public sale of the personal property of Dr Hillbish, late of Rebersburg, deceased, will take place on the 11th of March. Doctors and Druggists will find it to their interest to attend this sale.

—The local elections which took place in town on Tuesday were well attended and had different effects on the different candidates, some of them displaying wry faces. Well, if all were elected there wouldn't be much spice in it.

—Mr. J. Willis Musser has bought out the stage route from Woodward to Millheim, but also goes to Coburn every morning. He carries express and other goods from all points along the line at very moderate charges, and continues the calf and poultry business.

tf

—The first of Lent commences on Ash Wednesday, being the 27th day of February this year and continues 40 days, not including Sundays, which are all observed by the churches as feast days. March 2nd will be the first Sunday in Lent.

—Mr. E. W. Mauck showed us some very fine samples of wall paper. Edward has a large line of samples on hand and at the lowest prices. Parties who contemplate having work of this kind done will do well to call on him and examine his stock. tf

—On Friday March 21st, H. A. Mingle's executor's sale of the personal property of George Bollinger's estate at Aaronsburg will take place. A very large lot of partly finished material for chairmaking will be sold, beside a lot of household goods.

—Gov. Curtin has introduced a bill into the House providing that any person who was disabled during the late war and who was furnished with an artificial limb by the war department, since 1870, shall be entitled to receive a new limb every three years thereafter.—Watchman.

—H. H. Tomlinson engaged the services of L. Frank, of Rebersburg, as clerk in his general store. Mr. Frank is a very pleasant and efficient salesman aud with a corps of such clerks as the two Frank men in the big store and a wiser man in the grocery he can't help but sell his goods as fast as he can get them from the city.

—On Saturday we had a pleasant call from Mr. D. I. Fiedler and Mr. Samuel Zeigler, both of Miles township. They informed us of their removal to Carthage, Jasper Co., Missouri on Tuesday last and ordered the JOURNAL to be sent to them. Wish you a pleasant journey, gentlemen, and good luck in the western land.

—Our neighbor, Mr. F. D. Luse is agent for the Miller organ and has already received several instruments from the manufacturers. We have on his request tried some of his organs and can heartily recommend them to purchasers as a first-class instrument in tone as well as finish.

—We call the attention of farmers and stock raisers to the Climax Gate, for which Mr. Wm. Stover and Mr. John Kerstetter, Jr., of this place are the agents. For handiness, durability and cheapness it excels anything we ever saw in the gate line. If you are in need of a new gate call on those gentlemen.

SUDDEN DEATH.—On Wednesday evening of last week Mr. Levi Reeder of George's Valley was missed in his family and search was at once made for him. He was found lying near a straw stack in his barn yard with life extinct. A physician was called who pronounced it a case of heart disease and apoplexy. Such is life—verily there is but a step between us and the grave, therefore "be ye ready !"

—There will be a meeting of the teachers of Centre county, in the public school house in Bellefonte, on Saturday, March 1st at 10. 30., A. M., for the purpose of organizing a teacher's association for mutal benefit.

An organization of this kind is highly recommendable and teachers ought to avail themselves of this oppertunity to meet their collegues occasionally to spend a few entertaining and instructive hours in the exchange of new ideas and advisory opinions. The educational interests deserve all the attention that can possibly be given them and the teachers are the persons that should always take hold of anything that may further the matter of education.

—The weather for the last week was mild and rainy, until yesterday, when it blew up cold and stormy with several snow squalls. The rugged roads are frozen which makes traveling very unpleasant.

—James C. Smith, administrator of John Smith, deceased, will make sale of the valuable personal property of the decedent, Thursday, February 28th. The list embraces a large amount and variety of household goods, grain, lumber,provision, &c. In fact it will be a chance to buy almost anything.

—Look out for Wm. Mauck & Son's new mammoth sign. They are bound to let the people know that they do business on the first and second floor and that their stock in the furniture and wall paper line is the completest ever displayed and offered for sale in this vicinity. Give them a call, you can easy find them after that sign is up.

—A splendid chandelier for the audience chamber valued at $117 was donated to the St. John's Ev. Luth. Church at this place, by Mrs. Margaret Stover. She has the sincere and heartiest thanks of that congregation as well as their prayers for the richest blessings of the Lord as a reward for her kind and generous gift.

—Do not forget to attend the entertainment of the Literary Society tomorrow evening, it promises to be a splendid treat. The proceeds are to be used for the purchase of library books for the U. B. Sunday School and the public ought to by all means patronize an enterprise of this kind.

—Mr. Jacob Dutwiler, whose large farm is located along the turnpike about 1 mile south of Millheim. will make sale of his live stock, farming implements and household goods on Wednesday, March 19th, 1884. He expects to move to Jewel county,Kansas, soon after the sale.

SHOOTING MATCH AT THE REBERSBURG HOTEL.—On Thursday and Friday, the 28th and 29th inst,there will be a shooting match at the hotel at Rebersburg. Prizes: A fat steer, a good cow, and a lot of fine shoats. Distance 50 yards off hand, 100 yards rest. A peep sight may be used but globe and telescepe sights will not be allowed.

C. CONDO.

—Mr. John Kerstetter, Jr., still makes a business of doing special jobs at carpentry. John isreally an expert at the business and has large experince, both in making out plans,specifications and drawings, as well as a practical workman. People who entrust their work into his hands can safely rely on having it done in best style at the lowest prices. tf

TURNPIKE ELECTION.—Take notice, that an election will be held by the stockholders of the Bellefonte, Aaronsburg and Youngman's town Turnpike Company, on TUESDAY MARCH 11th, 1884, at Hosterman's Hotel in Woodward, Centre Co., between the hours of 10 A. M. and 2 P. M., of the said day.

By order of the Board.

DANIEL RUNKEL.
President.

TAKE NOTICE.—Mr. H. K. Luse hereby respectfully informs the public that he has a large lot of seed potatoes known as the "White Elephant Potato' for sale at his residence at Millheim. We are in possession of a basket full of these potatoes and can give them a warm recommendation as the best yielding potatoe in the market. If you are in need of any seed potatoes do not fail to call on him. tf

GRAND LITERARY ENTERTAINMENT.—The Millheim Literary Society will hold an entertainment in the Town Hall, Millheim,on Friday Evening February 22. The exercises of the evening will consist of Recitations, Orations, Essays, Dialogues, Declamations, Tableaux, Pantomimes, etc.

Vocal aud instrumental music will be rendered on the organ by Miss Cora B. Kreamer and Mr. W. T. Auman. The Millheim Cornet Band will be present and discourse some of their best music. Come one, come all. Admission 10 cents, children 5 cents.

COMMITTEE.

—On *M*onday evening a number of our citizens met in the Grammar school room for the purpose of organizing a Young Men's Christian Association. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. B. Hengst, after which the constitution of Y. M. C. A. was read and adopted. An organization was then effected by the election of the following officers for the term of six months: President—Rev. J. G. W. Herald; Vice President—A. J. Harter;Secretary—D. L. Zerby; Treasurer—D. A. *M*usser.

There was a fair attendance and all present were well pleased with the good feeling which prevailed throughout the evening and felt encouraged at the prospect of making this a benificial and successful organization. The association starts with a membership of twelve and a promising outlook of a speedy increase in numbers.

On Sunday, Feb. 24th, Y. M. C. A. services will be held in said school room and will consist in Bible readings. All young men are cordially invited to be present and are requested to bring Bibles with them.

—On the 12 inst. Rev. Newton J. Miller of the Rebersburg Charge purchased the bay mare at the Erhart sale. Last Saturday evening Mr. Jasper Brumgart waited upon pastor Miller and presented him a purse of fifty dollars, the contribution of members being en different parts of the charge. The purpose of the money was specified as being contributed towards the payment of the horse. The gratitude of Rev. Miller was expressed partly in his thanks and remains to be expressed in the renewed activity and zeal which this kindness of the members has evoked.

Echoes from Coburn.

On account of the inclement weather and the high waters no echoes could be heard for the last two weeks.

P. H. Stover is absent on business.

Samuel Ard, our new constable is off to Harrisburg.

Mr. R. F. Sechler, of Mifflinbucg, an experienced salesman will be employed in Dinges, Vonada & Co's store.

—Mr. Grenninger's cellar is filled with water.

On Saturday morning the train going east found the depot closed, and moved on with a puzzled crew of trainmen. The agent had overslept himself, having been away the night before.

Work on a new building was commenced this week and the carpenters are making splendid headway with it.

Mr. Gillbert, of Bellefonte, agent for the Singer Sewing Machine came very near losing his life last Thursday. The creek was swollen and covered,the road and Mr. G. not being acquainted with the road drove into the strong current of the water, where his buggy capsized and threw him into the cold stream. He struggled a full hour before he succeeded in getting himself and the horse out. In an almost unconscious condition he worked himself to Mr. Ard's house where he received the necessary assistance. The next morning the water had receded about 3 feet and then a party of men rescued the buggy, but the cushion,part of the harness, and gum coat and valise had been carried away by the swift water. His loss amounts to about $20. 00.

SPRING MILLS ITEMS.

On Saturday evening Mr. Munger fell down a flight of stairs bruising himself considerably about the head and shoulders.

Mr. Peter Wilson celebrated his 85th Birthday on the 18th ins.,this children having come home to participate in a family reunion.

E. C. Krumrine of Lewisburg Pa., is here overseeing his grain separator and will also run a saw mill in a few days. Lots of business in Ed.

Jonathan Mianich will move to Milton Pa., in a short time were he has secured employment in a planning mill as night watchman.

The Community was startled on Wednesday evening by the sudden death of one of its citizens. Mr. Levi Reeder, who was attending to feeding his pigs and not coming to the house for some time the family became uneasy and went to look for him. They found him dead near the straw stacks. It is supposed he had gone for straw to bed the stock. Truly in the midst of life we are in death.

Last but by no means least was the wedding of Mr. Jas. B. Crawford to Miss Mary A. Miller. The bride and brides maid were dressed in silk. Groom and groomsman in black broad cloth. Some 60 persons were present to witness the ceremonies. The happy bride received presents from the following persons: Jno. L. Spiro, Elegant Silver Cake Basket ; J. W. A SQUATTER AS A WITNESS.

"What is your name ?" asked the United States Attorney of an old "squatter" who had been summoned before the court as a witness ?"

"Which name, Squire ?"

"Your right name of course."

"I ain't got none."

"What, you mean to say that you haven't got a name ?"

"Oh, no, sir."

"This summons says that your name is Ananias Peters. Is that so ?"

"Reckin it is."

"Thought you didn't have a right name ?"

"I ain't."

"Look here, sir. Don't trifle with this court. Your prevarication will not be tolerated here. Why did you say that Ananias Peters was not your right name ?"

"Case it wasn't right to name a boy Ananias, therefore it ain't a right name. The Bible, I believe, sorter called Ananias a liar."

"Which," interposed the Judge, "makes it peculiarly applicable to your case ?"

"Look-a-here, Jedge, I don't want to progic with you, 'case you've got the upper hand of me, but I don't want you to hit me with the Bible. A man's in a bad enough fix when you fling the law at him, but when you fling the law and the Gospel both, he ain't got no show."

"Where do you live ?" asked the attorney.

"At home."

"But where is your home ?"

"In the neighborhood o' where I live."

The Judge turned away to conceal a smile, and the attorney, giving the "squatter" a look of extreme severity, said : "Do you know where you are, sir ?"

"Yes, sir, I'm here,"

"You won't be here much longer unless you answer my questions."

"I am answerin' your questions, 'Squire. Go on with your rat killin'."

"Where were you when Mr. Jason, the defendaut, cut timber from government land ?"

"When did he do the cuttin' ?"

"That's what I want to find out. I think it was some time in October."

"Wall, some times in October I was at one place an' some times I was at tuther."

"Did you ever see him cutting government timber ?"

"I believe I did."

"When ?"

"Durin' the war, when he was in the army."

"None of your foolishness now. Did not you come along the road one day in October and talk to the defendant while he was chopping down a tree ?"

"No, sir."

"Remember that you are under oath. So you didn't see him while he was chopping down a tree."

"Didn't say that, 'Squire, fur I did see him choppin' the tree."

"Did you stop and talk to him ?"

"Yes, sir.

"Thought you said you didn't stop and talk to him ?"

"Didn't say it."

"You did."

"Didn't say it."

"What did you say ?"

"Said I didn't talk to him while he was chopping', fur when I come up and spoke, he quit choppin'. Ef thar's anything else you wanter know, fire away."—Arkansaw Traveler.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth ? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

NOT ALL GONE.

General Longstreet of the Confederate army, tells this story :

"In the battle of Chicamauga where I aided in the defeat of Rosencrans, General Benning, one of the bravest of the Southern Generals, came charging up to me in great agitation. He was on an artillery horse. His hat was gone and he was much disordered.

General, 'said he, 'my brigade is utterly destroyed.'

'Is that so ?' I asked quietly.

'Yes, sir ; gone all to pieces.'

'Utterly destroyed, you say.'

His heart was nearly breaking. I approached him and said quietly :

'Don't you think you could find on man, General ?'

'One man,' said he in astonishment. 'I suppose I could. What do you want with him ?'

'Go and get him,' I said, laying my hand quietly on his arm, 'and bring him here. Then you and I and he will charge together. This is sacred, General, and we may as well die here as anywhere.'

'He looked curiously for a moment, then laughed, and then galloped off in a flash, and shortly after was leading a new command gathered somewhere, and went into the fight again.'

Clerk—'Prisoner at the bar, are you guilty or not guilty?' Prisoner—'Not goilty.' Judge—'Who is your counsel?' Prisoner—'I have none. I am unable to employ a lawyer.' Judge—'Mr. B—, I appoint you to defend this man. Prisoner(after looking at his lawyer)—'Well, then, I plead guilty.'

DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FEVER and ACUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and Scrofulous affections—the King of Blood Purifiers.

DR. JOHN BULL'S VEGETABLE WORM DESTROYER is prepared in the form of candy drops, attractive to the sight and pleasant to the taste.
